SIMR's Bioengineering Internship exposes high school students to the intersection of design thinking and engineering skills to create solutions for medical problems. While working in teams, students identify real-world clinical needs and use patient-centered design to create prototypes.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY
SUMMER 2022: June 13- August 4, 2022

https://simr.stanford.edu